FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: 28 December 2009

Butler, PA, 28 December 2009 –Ibis Tek LLC, a leading supplier of transparent armor solutions to tactical vehicle defense contractors is proud to announce the recent acquisition of eFrost LLC, a supplier of heated mat technology. Financial details and terms of the transaction will not be disclosed.

eFrost has been a major supplier of heated mat components to Ibis Tek for the manufacture of de-ice and de-frost capable transparent armor solutions. The acquisition complements Ibis Tek's portfolio of transparent armor solutions with more vertically integrated manufacturing capabilities resulting in extended control of critical value chain processes and improved product development cycles.

“This acquisition is a perfect fit for Ibis Tek” states Andy Rapp, Vice President of Product Assurance. “It will better position us to control quality processes through highly integrated manufacturing capabilities and also provide opportunities for new products using advanced de-icing technology.” The transaction reinforces Ibis Tek's commitment to providing high-quality, value-added products to the defense industry.

Over the next several months the companies will be executing integration plans to ensure a smooth transition.
